Attends Virginia Association

Nearly 800 agricultural educators joined over 9,000 vocational educators in Atlanta for their annual convention, December 1-5. The 25th National Vocational Agricultural Teachers' Association (NVATA) convention ran concurrently with that of the American Vocational Association (AVA). Dennis W. Torrence, vocational agriculture teacher at Appomattox County High School at Appomattox was an official delegate for the Virginia Association.

The five days were exceptionally busy for those attending. Many NVATA sessions emphasized activities to commemorate the Silver Anniversary. The NVATA was organized at Milwaukee, Wisconsin in December, 1948. The NVATA and AVA program included general sessions, departmental, sectional and regional meetings, business meetings, awards, receptions and luncheons. The week long convention brought vocational educators in agriculture—classroom teachers, teacher educators, and state supervisors—together from all sections of the United States for the purpose of discussing mutual problems, studying transitional innovations, and becoming more knowledgable about the total program of career education in agriculture. The theme for the Agriculture Division program was "Agricultural Education in the Total Education System."

The NVATA includes over 10,000 vocational educators in agriculture as members. Francis N. Murphy the vocational agriculture teacher at Madison, South Dakota is president. James Shadle vocational agriculture teacher at Hegins, Pa., is the NVATA Vice President for Region VI which includes the Virginia Association. The National Office is located in Lincoln, Nebraska. James Wall is employed as the full-time NVATA Executive Secretary.

Food Shopper

By Cathy B. Hinton
Virginia Department of Agriculture

Time after time you hear someone referred to as a typical easterner, southerner, and westerner or westerner. It is true that there are some regional differences in the behavior of people but the similarities are far more striking than the differences. One similar characteristic is that there are food shopper personalities. See how many you recognize in your supermarket.

Let's begin with the Caresser-izer. This is the person who is not satisfied with the normal amount of handling needed to select fresh produce. The Caresser-izer loves tomatoes and peaches, so much that she can't resist caressing and squeezing them. As soon as a fingernail breaks the skin up goes the price of tomatoes!

Who leaves a bag of apples in the cereal section? Why of course it's the Scatterizer. Somebody constantly causes additional expense because food is lost through spoilage and additional employees are needed to pick up after them.

One of my favorites is the Taster-izer. It is always amazing to see teeth marks in a half-consumed apple, or a nail print in butter. This shopper seems to forget that taste testing adds to the cost of food.

Then there is the Pacifier. The Pacifier gives Tinamie or Patty a cookie or banana when they get cranky. What store personnel would take a banana away from a cranky child? There is a large volume of food items given away in this situation. Don't be surprized - the cost is included in the price of food.

All these personalities the Caresser-izer, Scatterizer, Taster-izer and Pacifier contribute to the rertail store's spoilage bill, which is ultimately passed onto consumers. Be aware of these food shopper personalities, but don't be guilty of being one.

Smokey Says:

Modernistic Club News

A brief club meeting was called at the home of Ms. T. W. Hamlets' to make plans for the clubs Christmas meeting.

The club decided to put the Christmas party off for now, and just hold the regular club meeting, with Ms. C. S. Turner as hostess. The meeting was held at 3:00 p.m. on Wednesday, December 6th, since time was closing in, the club members were not able to get a place out of town, it was decided to have the meeting in our town as usual.

Even though the weather was some what inclement Sunday, December 9th, at the 10:00 a.m. hour, a fair number turned out to Galilee Baptist Church, for church school. Theme: Who is this Jesus? John 1:35-45 - John 20:30-31. Memory Selection - I and My Father are one. John 10:30. The lesson was quite informative and through the discussion, helpful information was gained.

First Baptist Church had an appreciative number, for regular morning worship at the 11:00 a.m. hour Sunday. The pastor Rev. Davis, preached an impressive sermon. Topic - for discussion, found Matthew - 25:8 - - "Conditions which occured could have been avoided, had the lamps been filled with oil." Those who were in attendance, enjoyed the services very much.

I wish to correct an error in the last write up. Mr. McKinley Austin, is a patient in Virginia Baptist Hospital, instead of Lynchburg General.

It has been reported that Ms. James' mother, is resting easy at this time. We trust that the sick may improve very soon, and come back home to their families.

We shall be looking for you Sunday, 7:00 p.m. December 16th, to attend the "Candle Light Service," at Galilee Baptist Church. This service will be held for the benefit of the , Community Cemetery Club.

To the members of Galilee Church, the last quarterly rally will be held immediately following morning worship, December 16, 1973. Leaders for December, Brother Robert Watson and Sister Helen Stevens.

The Christmas envelopes given out on the first Sunday, will be returned to the pastor, Rev. Lawing this Sunday so that the pastor may have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Please keep all notices, and announcements in mind for Sunday December 16, 1973.

We ask the widows of the church, to be present Sunday, December 16, at 7:00 p.m. pastor Lawing, will present a little token of love to you, immediately following the Candle Light Service.

Sister Lillie Stevens accompanied her sister-in-law Helen to Lynchburg, Virginia, Monday. This is sister Lillies first shopping trip, since she returned from the hospital in July. We were very happy for her.

Mr. and Mrs. George Martin visited in Appomattox, Va., Wednesday, after the Martins attended the "Hayles Allen Day" Service at Virginia College Lynchburg, Va. The Martins' are building a new home in Appomattox, Va. and they came down to visit, and to observe how the home is progressing. I think they were pleased with the work thus far.

Sister Stevens Rev. Lawing attended Hayes and Allens Day, at the College, December 5th, Wednesday in Lynchburg, Virginia.

The Martin's returned to their home in the Bronx, N. Y.
